

Privacy

- Accounts do not need to be maintained
- Thus very cheap to create new accounts
- So new accounts are created after every transaction
- Cannot discern between the amount “actually” transacted and amount that was received back as “change”
- Very difficult to link accounts to each other

Scalability