First, we need a block

- Blocks store information

- New information => need a new block

- We talked about how hard it is to make a block

- A bit more detail…

How to build a block

- Recall any two blocks with different data must contain different hashes

- There are restrictions hardcoded into the blockchain system

- Every block must start with, for example, five 0's