Who should I vote for?

- Computational power

  - Block producers should be able to run the servers necessary to securely and reliably produce blocks

- Team

  - Beyond running network infrastructure, block producers should create value for the EOS ecosystem.

- Location

  - Having 21 block producers located in a single country is significantly less decentralized than having 21 block producers located in many different countries and regions around the globe.

What's in it for the producers?